BRITISH FIRE ON EXTREMISTS IN TEL AVIV

Fresh Disorders Reported Following Wild Brawl Fatal To Two Jews
16 OTHERS WOUNDED
Public Ignores Curfew Imposed By British; Planes On Watch

BULLETIN
JERUSALEM, Nov. 15—Rioting, arson and plundering broke out afresh on a citywide scale in Haifa today, boosting casualties to three Jews killed, scores wounded, and undetermined injuries in the ranks of British troops struggling to quell the disorder.

JERUSALEM, Nov. 15—Zionist rioting broke out in Tel Aviv again this morning, but British troops went into action swiftly and prevented a repetition of the wild street brawl in which two Jewish youths were killed last night.

Dispatches from the Jewish coastal settlement said small groups of extremists started fresh disorders early today but were dispersed quickly by British infantrymen.

Two Jews were injured seriously enough to require hospitalization after this morning's clash, but there was no word of other casualties.

Meanwhile, the death toll in last night's melee rose to two when a 20-year-old Jewish boy died in the Hadassah hospital. A 16-year-old fellow-demonstrator was shot and killed in the fighting around the government offices, which were burned to the ground by the rioters.

Sixteen others were wounded in the outbreak, seven seriously, and some 30 British soldiers and local policemen were injured by brickbats.

The curfew in Tel Aviv was ignored by the public and the army made no attempt to enforce it this morning but threw a cordon around the city preventing everyone from passing in or out.

Warplanes circled over Tel Aviv and bands of boys marched through the streets shouting, booing and stoning soldiers.

Soldiers fired on one mob, wounding three Jews, in a street where rioters earlier had smashed railway barriers.

In other streets rioters set fire to several military vehicles.

In the Hatikva quarter near Jaffa, police and soldiers fired into a crowd injuring 11.

Shopkeepers dealing in foodstuffs opened shops in defiance of the curfew order. Housewives soon emptied their shelves in a panic of buying. There was little bread on the market.

Jewish rioters attacked a post-office building.

Dreams Of Paratrooper Come True

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Capt. Frank L. Lillyman, 30-year-old paratrooper turns into reality today a dream that began in bitter fighting at Eindhoven, Bastogne, and the march across Germany.

Lillyman, his wife, Jane, and his daughter, Susan, will arrive at the hotel Pennsylvania to live for a way he had dreamed. It was all "on the house."

For seven days, the captain will be called "mister," his wife will receive flowers every morning, his 3½-year-old daughter Susan a new toy. There will be Strauss waltzes, dinner by candlelight. No dish on the menu will be the same.

It came about this way: In the bitter cold of Christmas at Bastogne, the captain, with the 101st airborne division, began to make a list of what he wanted when he returned to the U. S. The list grew all the way across Germany. Finally, a few weeks ago in Heidelberg, Germany, Lillyman wrote a letter to the Hotel Pennsylvania.

"I have written down, during the last two years, the things I want when I return to the states. I have a wife (Jane) and a daughter (Susan) of three and one-half years. When I arrive home I desire to stay at a hotel for approximately seven days. I desire a suite (Continued on Page Two)

BRITISH GAIN IN SOERABAJA

Indonesian Strongpoints Fall To Tommies In Bitter Battles

BATAVIA, Nov. 15—Reinforced troops stormed and captured the main Indonesian strongpoints in the center of Soerabaja today after beating off a series of heavy nationalist counter-attacks.

Spearheads of the 5th Indian division thrust across the railroad line bisecting Soerabaja from east to west and advanced into the southern end of the city under fierce mortar and machine gun fire.

They dislodged the nationalists from the government buildings south of the railroad where the main Indonesian resistance had centered.

Late dispatches from the east Java naval base city said the nationalists still were fighting back furiously, but the breakthrough seriously threatened their remaining hold in the southern half of the town.

Heaviest fighting early in the day centered around the railway embankment, the Soerabaja hotel and the central railway station where repeated native counter-attacks were smashed by point-blank British artillery fire.

British reports from the city said the Indonesians, estimated at 15,000 to 18,000 strong, appeared to be better organized than at the beginning of the battle.

The nationalists no longer roamed the streets in mobs but were concentrating their strength in barricaded areas south of the railway.

A number of Indonesian snipers still were holding out behind the British lines in the northern half of the city but they were being mopped up rapidly.

Despite the fighting, British supplies and reinforcements were reported moving through the port area at a rapid rate. The Madras regiment arrived yesterday to join the 5th Indian division and the Dutch Aneta news agency said elements of the 23rd Indian division also were in the city.

British casualties were reported relatively light thus far, although six officers and 169 men were listed as missing.

Joseph Vitolo Refuses To Disclose What He Was Told During Vision

BY ROBERT RICHARDS
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Young Joseph Vitolo's reported vision of the Virgin Mary in a Bronx lot and what she told him remained the nine-year-old boy's secret today.

"I won't tell you what she told me," he shouted at reporters last night. "She told me not to tell."

"Shut-up, Jo-Jo," his sister ordered. Beyond that the boy refused to talk.

It was the 16th night since he claimed to have seen a vision of the virgin. Approximately 30,000 people stood in a drizzling rain in the streets, surrounding the rock-littered vacant lot to watch him pray.

It was the night, he had said, when the "Blessed Lady" told him "something wonderful" would happen.

Young Joseph prayed before an improvised altar in the lot. Many in the crowd repeated the words of the prayer "Hail, Mary" after him.

Through his sister, Mrs. Theresa Campone, the boy said, after he was returned to his home, that he definitely would not return to the field again. It was his last night.

"He will not disobey orders," Mrs. Campone said. "The Virgin appeared tonight and told him, 'I'm not coming any more. I did my work. And you should answer no questions.'"

"Jo-Jo will return to school tomorrow," Mrs. Campone said. The night began like the previous nights since the boy reported the vision and began praying in the (Continued on Page Two)

TRUMAN FAVORS REDUCTION OF RESTRICTIONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—President Truman told the National Foreign Trade association last night that the world could only rid itself of freedom from want by reducing the restrictions on production.

"We shall not get forward toward freedom from want," the President said in a message to the convention's closing session, "by placing new restrictions either upon production or exchange."

"On the contrary," Mr. Truman said, "we must reduce restrictions all around the circle; and we must try at the same time to promote stability and high employment."

"The world is growing smaller every day and we shall need to live as good neighbors in a world of good neighbors if we hope to enjoy the prosperity which science and technology have brought within our power."

The President suggested that the economic and social council of the United Nations as well as other new international organizations aid in agreement on the public measures affecting foreign trade.

Dr. Fred I. Kent, Bankers Trust company director, was given the 1945 Captain Robert Dollar memorial award as the American citizen who did the most for foreign trade during the year.

CHIANG SAID LOSING RACE FOR MANCHURIA

Chinese Communists Believed Taking Over As Russian Troops Move Out

REPORTS ARE CONFUSING

Reds Make More Charges Against U. S., Saying Tanks, Troops Used

CHUNGKING, Nov. 15—Neutral quarters today said that the Chinese central government appears to be on the verge of losing the race for Manchuria. A welter of conflicting reports included a Communist charge that 100 American-manned tanks are racing north and west from Tientsin toward the scene of the conflict.

There was no confirmation from any authoritative quarter of the Communist claim that a United States armored column had struck out for Shanhaikwan, gateway to Manchuria, and Chahar province.

The actual situation in Manchuria, according to neutral observers, is that a Russian withdrawal from the area is in full swing with Chinese Communist forces moving in as rapidly as the Red army evacuates.

The Communist movement has reached such a scale, according to these reports, that if it continues for another week the Chinese central government will be unable to take over Manchuria unless it embarks on a full-scale war.

Soviet troops, it was learned, already have completed their withdrawal from southern Manchuria and by Nov. 10 had evacuated the entire area south of Mukden. They are scheduled to be out of central Manchuria and the area south of Harbin by Nov. 20. The evacuation of all Manchuria is due to be completed by Dec. 3.

Thus far, these quarters said, the Chinese Communists have moved into position as rapidly as the Red army has gotten out. They have moved into seaports, mountain passes, and airports and have seized key railroads.

Unless the central government is able immediately to start moving airborne forces into Manchuria, these quarters said, it is (Continued on Page Two)

TRUMAN URGES U. S. FARMERS TO WORK TOGETHER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 15—President Truman appealed today to America's farmers for an understanding of the nation's integrated economic problems and urged them to work together for the President told delegates, "the agriculture."

In a letter to the National Grange convention in session here, an independent and self-supporting farm family cannot prosper unless the laboring man's family prospers, unless industry as a whole is prosperous, unless we keep prices reasonable and thus beat down the fires of inflation."

"We must continue to throw off the chains of poverty," he said, "working together for an independent and self-supporting agriculture."

The chief executive, addressing Albert S. Goss, master of the Grange, said that the American farmer could greatly contribute to the wellbeing of the world by aiding to banish hunger from European countries.

"Not only is the American farm family able to produce much more than ever before, it is also better prepared to understand the world community and our own responsibilities to it," he said.

Mr. Truman expressed regrets that he could not attend the meeting to receive the seventh degree of the Grange.

The convention, scheduled for 10 days, opened yesterday with a master's address by Goss recommending creation of a bi-partisan commodity commission empowered to stabilize the market for any commodity at or near parity.

Hearings On Probe Open In Capital

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Evidence was introduced in the Pearl Harbor investigation today indicating that on December 6, 1941, the British government expected war to break out in the Pacific the following day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The first public investigation into the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor opened today before a 10-man special congressional committee and a throng of spectators.

The committee was charged with the task of trying once and for all, to bring out the complete story of blame for the disaster that befell American forces in the attack which launched the Pacific war.

The opening session was devoted to laying the groundwork for the testimony scheduled to be taken during succeeding weeks. Rear Admiral T. B. Inglis, chief of naval operations, was the first witness. He was to be followed by Col. Bernard Thielen of the army general staff.

With the aid of huge relief maps, they acquainted the committee with the physical picture of the huge naval base in the Hawaiian islands.

The hearing was held in the ornate caucus room of the senate office building. The room was crowded with committee staff, Army and Navy officials, reporters and spectators.

MORE BODIES OF FLIERS FOUND

Six Americans Apparently Strangled By Japs Lay In Hidden Graves

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 15—The bodies of seven American fliers, six of whom apparently were strangled by the Japanese, have been recovered from hidden graves, the 8th army announced today.

Five of the seven bodies were found with ropes or wires tied around their necks in the graveyard of a Buddhist temple. Two more were recovered in unmarked graves along a lonely road near the Tokyo canal.

The eighth army's announcement followed by less than a week the discovery of the remains of 14 airmen who were executed and tortured by the Japanese after parachuting over Osaka.

RUSSIA TO BE GIVEN ANOTHER BID TO COUNCIL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Russia will receive another bid to participate in an allied control council for Japan despite her refusal to join unless granted veto power, American officials said today.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes told reporters yesterday that Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov had rejected American proposals for a Japanese control council without the unanimity rule that governs the four-power council for Germany.

The unanimity rule has not worked well in Germany, Byrnes said. The U. S. is not willing, he added, to surrender its authority in Japan to a council operating under that procedure or to limit in any way the final authority of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Officials at the state department emphasized that the United States is keeping an "open mind" on the matter, and an authorized source said this government undoubtedly will present a new proposal to Moscow very soon. This source said almost any compromise solution would be acceptable to the U. S. as long as MacArthur retains final authority.

UAW, INDUSTRY RESUME TALKS

General Steel Strike Is Predicted Unless Wage Question Settled

By United Press

The United Automobile workers (CIO) resumed negotiations with Chrysler and General Motors corporations today over demands for a 30 per cent pay increase, while deadlocked wage demands of another CIO union brought predictions of an industry-wide steel strike by the end of the month.

Union and General Motors representatives reopened their wage discussions as officials in the company's Buick and Fisher body plants at Flint, Mich., sent home 3,000 workers in a "progressive layoff" momentarily expected to affect some 10,000 workers.

The shutdown at Fisher body, employing 2,000, forced the layoff of Buick assembly line night shift workers yesterday, and a company spokesman said the plant probably would be closed by nightfall. The Fisher body shutdown was blamed on a shortage of steel frames from the Midland Steel company in Cleveland, a key G-M supplier.

New UAW negotiations with Chrysler were expected to get down to serious consideration of the wage question for the first time.

The magazine Iron Age warned last night that an industry-wide steel strike could be expected by the end of November or early in December unless the wage and price issues were settled.

The trade journal's prediction came as government officials failed in attempts to get the CIO Steelworkers and the U. S. Steel Corp. together for collective bargaining on the union's demands for higher pay.

Despite personal intervention by Labor Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach, further discussion appeared hopeless over the union's demand for a $2-a-day increase in wages.

NEW PROPOSAL FOR VETERANS' PURCHASES MADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Surplus Property Administrator W. Stuart Symington told congress today it may have to set up government-run retail stores if it wants to give veterans a real shot at buying surplus property.

Proposing one last try under existing law, Symington outlined a system based on sales by established wholesalers, with the veteran buying at a dealer's discount.

If that doesn't work, and if congress doesn't want to spend hundreds of millions of dollars setting up stores all over the country, he said, then the effort to reward servicemen through priorities on surplus property had best be forgotten.

Symington released texts of letters to Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D. Wyo., and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D. La., in which he blue-printed a last-chance plan to make every veteran a dealer.

Recommend Committee To Work Toward Ending Destructive Use

WASHINGTON TALKS END

Truman, Attlee, King Say Exchange Of Basic Knowledge Needed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—President Truman and the prime ministers of Great Britain and Canada concluded their atomic bomb control talks today with an announcement that the mechanical know-how of bomb production would continue to be kept secret.

They recommended the establishment of a commission under the United Nations Organization. This committee, they said, would work toward "entirely eliminating the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes and promoting its widest use for industrial and humanitarian purposes."

The statement of policy drafted by three leaders advised the wisest exchange of basic scientific knowledge but expressed belief "that the spreading of specialized information regarding practical application of atomic energy for military purposes would not contribute to the constructive solution of the problem of the atomic bomb."

"We are convinced," the statement signed by the three leaders said, "that the spreading of specialized information regarding the practical application of atomic energy, before it is possible to devise effective reciprocal and enforceable safeguards acceptable to all nations, would contribute to the constructive solution of the problem of the atomic bomb."

"On the contrary we think it might have the opposite effect. We are, however, prepared to share with other of the United Nations detailed information concerning the practical industrial application of atomic energy just as soon as effective enforceable safeguards against its use for destructive purposes can be devised."

President Truman and the prime ministers announced their decisions on atomic energy control at a news conference at 11 a. m. today.

British sources said Attlee would leave today or tomorrow for his first visit to Canada since becoming prime minister. Mackenzie King will accompany him.

FBI HUNTING CLUES IN TWO DISAPPEARANCES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15—FBI agents, headed by one of the bureau's leading kidnap experts, today intensified a search for clues in the mysterious disappearances of a three-year-old gold mining heir and a high school bobby axer.

Assistant FBI Director E. J. Connelley, who arrived yesterday from Washington, announced he would direct the search for Dickie Tim Suden, missing since Nov. 1 from his wealthy parents' cabin near the Sierra mining town of Downsville.

Connelley also disclosed that the FBI had been "interested for some time" in the disappearance of a day later of Thora Chamberlain, 15-year-old San Jose high school girl, last seen on her way to a football game.

Connelley, who coordinated federal investigations in a number of famous kidnap cases, including the $200,000 ransom abduction of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser in 1935, declined comment on specific plans for the bureau's probe. He said he would not discuss evidence while "an active investigation is taking place."

Dreams Of Paratrooper Come True

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Capt. Frank L. Lillyman, 30-year-old paratrooper turns into reality today a dream that began in bitter fighting at Eindhoven, Bastogne, and the march across Germany.

Lillyman, his wife, Jane, and his daughter, Susan, will arrive at the hotel Pennsylvania to live for a way he had dreamed. It was all "on the house."

The list grew all the way across Germany. Finally, a few weeks ago in Heidelberg, Germany, Lillyman wrote a letter to the Hotel Pennsylvania. It said in part:

"I have written down, during the last two years, the things I want when I return to the states. I have a wife (Jane) and a daughter (Susan) of three and one-half years. When I arrive home I desire to stay at a hotel for approximately seven days. I desire a suite (Continued on Page Two)

Joseph Vitolo Refuses To Disclose What He Was Told During Vision

BY ROBERT RICHARDS
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Young Joseph Vitolo's reported vision of the Virgin Mary in a Bronx lot and what she told him remained the nine-year-old boy's secret today.

"I won't tell you what she told me," he shouted at reporters last night. "She told me not to tell."

"Shut-up, Jo-Jo," his sister ordered. Beyond that the boy refused to talk.

It was the 16th night since he claimed to have seen a vision of the virgin. Approximately 30,000 people stood in a drizzling rain in the streets, surrounding the rock-littered vacant lot to watch him pray.

TRUMAN FAVORS REDUCTION OF RESTRICTIONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—President Truman told the National Foreign Trade association last night that the world could only rid itself of freedom from want by reducing the restrictions on production.

"We shall not get forward toward freedom from want," the President said in a message to the convention's closing session, "by placing new restrictions either upon production or exchange."

"On the contrary," Mr. Truman said, "we must reduce restrictions all around the circle; and we must try at the same time to promote stability and high employment."

"The world is growing smaller every day and we shall need to live as good neighbors in a world of good neighbors if we hope to enjoy the prosperity which science and technology have brought with it."

The President suggested that the economic and social council of the United Nations as well as other new international organizations aid in agreement on the public measures affecting foreign trade.

Dr. Fred I. Kent, Bankers Trust company director, was given the 1945 Captain Robert Dollar memorial award as the American citizen who did the most for foreign trade during the year.

Chinese Communists Believed Taking Over As Russian Troops Move Out

REPORTS ARE CONFUSING

Reds Make More Charges Against U. S., Saying Tanks, Troops Used

CHUNGKING, Nov. 15—Neutral quarters today said that the Chinese central government appears to be on the verge of losing the race for Manchuria. A welter of conflicting reports included a Communist charge that 100 American-manned tanks are racing north and west from Tientsin toward the scene of the conflict.

There was no confirmation from any authoritative quarter of the Communist claim that a United States armored column had struck out for Shanhaikwan, gateway to Manchuria, and Chahar province.

The actual situation in Manchuria, according to neutral observers, is that a Russian withdrawal from the area is in full swing with Chinese Communist forces moving in as rapidly as the Red army evacuates.

The Communist movement has reached such a scale, according to these reports, that if it continues for another week the Chinese central government will be unable to take over Manchuria unless it embarks on a full-scale war.

Soviet troops, it was learned, already have completed their withdrawal from southern Manchuria and by Nov. 10 had evacuated the entire area south of Mukden. They are scheduled to be out of central Manchuria and the area south of Harbin by Nov. 20. The evacuation of all Manchuria is due to be completed by Dec. 3.

Thus far, these quarters said, the Chinese Communists have moved into position as rapidly as the Red army has gotten out. They have moved into seaports, mountain passes, and airports and have seized key railroads.

Unless the central government is able immediately to start moving airborne forces into Manchuria, these quarters said, it is (Continued on Page Two)

TRUMAN URGES U. S. FARMERS TO WORK TOGETHER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 15—President Truman appealed today to America's farmers for an understanding of the nation's integrated economic problems and urged them to work together for the President told delegates, "the agriculture."

In a letter to the National Grange convention in session here, an independent and self-supporting farm family cannot prosper unless the laboring man's family prospers, unless industry as a whole is prosperous, unless we keep prices reasonable and thus beat down the fires of inflation."

"We must continue to throw off the chains of poverty," he said, "working together for an independent and self-supporting agriculture."

The chief executive, addressing Albert S. Goss, master of the Grange, said that the American farmer could greatly contribute to the wellbeing of the world by aiding to banish hunger from European countries.

"Not only is the American farm family able to produce much more than ever before, it is also better prepared to understand the world community and our own responsibilities to it," he said.

Mr. Truman expressed regrets that he could not attend the meeting to receive the seventh degree of the grange.

The convention, scheduled for 10 days, opened yesterday with a master's address by Goss recommending creation of a bi-partisan commodity commission empowered to stabilize the market for any commodity at or near parity.

Hearings On Probe Open In Capital

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Evidence was introduced in the Pearl Harbor investigation today indicating that on December 6, 1941, the British government expected war to break out in the Pacific the following day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The first public investigation into the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor opened today before a 10-man special congressional committee and a throng of spectators.

The committee was charged with the task of trying once and for all, to bring out the complete story of blame for the disaster that befell American forces in the attack which launched the Pacific war.

The opening session was devoted to laying the groundwork for the testimony scheduled to be taken during succeeding weeks. Rear Admiral T. B. Inglis, chief of naval operations, was the first witness. He was to be followed by Col. Bernard Thielens of the army general staff.

With the aid of huge relief maps, they acquainted the committee with the physical picture of the huge naval base in the Hawaiian islands.

The hearing was held in the ornate caucus room of the senate office building. The room was crowded with committee staff, Army and Navy officials, reporters and spectators.

Six Americans Apparently Strangled By Japs Lay In Hidden Graves

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 15—The bodies of seven American fliers, six of whom apparently were strangled by the Japanese, have been recovered from hidden graves, the 8th army announced today.

Five of the seven bodies were found with ropes or wires tied around their necks in the graveyard of a Buddhist temple. Two more were recovered in unmarked graves along a lonely road near the Tokyo canal.

The eighth army's announcement followed by less than a week the discovery of the remains of 14 airmen who were executed and tortured by the Japanese after parachuting over Osaka.

RUSSIA TO BE GIVEN ANOTHER BID TO COUNCIL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Russia will receive another bid to participate in an allied council for Japan despite her refusal to join unless granted veto power, American officials said today.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes told reporters yesterday that Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov had rejected American proposals for a Japanese council without the unanimity rule that governs the four-power council for Germany.

The unanimity rule has not worked well in Germany, Byrnes said. The U. S. is not willing, he added, to surrender its authority in Japan to a council operating under that procedure or to limit in any way the final authority of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Officials at the state department emphasized that the United States is keeping an "open mind" on the matter, and an authorized source said this government undoubtedly will present a new proposal to Moscow very soon.

This source said almost any compromise solution would be acceptable to the U. S. as long as MacArthur retains final authority.

UAW, INDUSTRY RESUME TALKS

General Steel Strike Is Predicted Unless Wage Question Settled

By United Press
The United Automobile workers (UAW) resumed negotiations with Chrysler and General Motors corporations today over demands for a 30 per cent pay increase, while deadlocked wage demands of another CIO union brought predictions of an industry-wide steel strike by the end of the month.

Union and General Motors representatives reopened their wage discussions as officials in the company's Buick and Fisher body plants at Flint, Mich., sent home 3,000 workers in a "progressive layoff" momentarily expected to affect some 10,000 workers.

The shutdown at Fisher body, employing 2,000, forced the layoff of Buick assembly line night shift workers yesterday, and a company spokesman said the plant probably would be closed by nightfall. The Fisher body shutdown was blamed on a shortage of steel frames from the Midland Steel company in Cleveland, a key G-M supplier.

New UAW negotiations with Chrysler were expected to get down to serious consideration of the wage question for the first time.

The magazine Iron Age warned last night that an industry-wide steel strike could be expected by the end of November or early in December unless the wage and price issues were settled.

The trade journal's prediction came as government officials failed in attempts to get the CIO Steelworkers and the U. S. Steel Corp. together for collective bargaining on the union's demands for higher pay.

Despite personal intervention by Labor Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach, further discussion appeared hopeless over the union's demand for a $2-a-day increase in wages.

NEW PROPOSAL FOR VETERANS' PURCHASES MADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Surplus Property Administrator W. Stuart Symington told congress today it may have to set up government-run retail stores if it wants to give veterans a real shot at buying surplus property.

Proposing one last try under existing law, Symington outlined a system based on sales by established wholesalers, with the veteran buying at a dealer's discount.

If that doesn't work, and if congress doesn't want to spend hundreds of millions of dollars setting up stores all over the country, he said, then the effort to reward servicemen through priorities on surplus property had best be forgotten.

Symington released texts of letters to Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., and Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D., La., in which he blue-printed a last-chance plan to make every veteran a dealer.

Recommend Committee To Work Toward Ending Destructive Use

WASHINGTON TALKS END

Truman, Attlee, King Say Exchange Of Basic Knowledge Needed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—President Truman and the prime ministers of Great Britain and Canada concluded their atomic bomb control talks today with an announcement that the mechanical know-how of bomb production would continue to be kept secret.

They recommended the establishment of a commission under the United Nations Organization. This committee, they said, would work toward "entirely eliminating the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes and promoting its widest use for industrial and humanitarian purposes."

The statement of policy drafted by three leaders advised the wisest exchange of basic scientific knowledge but expressed belief "that the spreading of specialized information regarding practical application of atomic energy for military purposes would not contribute to the constructive solution of the problem of the atomic bomb."

"We are convinced," the statement signed by the three leaders said, "that the spreading of specialized information regarding the practical application of atomic energy, before it is possible to devise effective reciprocal and enforceable safeguards acceptable to all nations, would contribute to the constructive solution of the problem of the atomic bomb."

"On the contrary we think it might have the opposite effect. We are, however, prepared to share with other of the United Nations detailed information concerning the practical industrial application of atomic energy just as soon as effective enforceable safeguards against its use for destructive purposes can be devised."

President Truman and the prime ministers announced their decisions on atomic energy control at a news conference at 11 a. m. today.

British sources said Attlee would leave today or tomorrow for his first visit to Canada since becoming prime minister. Mackenzie King will accompany him.

FBI HUNTING CLUES IN TWO DISAPPEARANCES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15—FBI agents, headed by one of the bureau's leading kidnap experts, today intensified a search for clues in the mysterious disappearances of a three-year-old gold mining heir and a high school bobby soxer.

Assistant FBI Director E. J. Connelley, who arrived yesterday from Washington, announced he would direct the search for Dickie Tum Suden, missing since Nov. 1 from his wealthy parents' cabin near the Sierra mining town of Downieville.

Connelley also disclosed that the FBI had been "interested for some time" in the disappearance of a day later of Thora Chamberlain, 15-year-old San Jose high school girl, last seen on her way to a football game.

Connelley, who coordinated federal investigations in a number of famous kidnap cases, including the $200,000 ransom abduction of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser in 1935, declined comment on specific plans for the bureau's probe. He said he would not discuss evidence while "an active investigation is taking place."

The central government now has about 300 officials at Changchun and has taken over the postal and telegraph administrations. Soviet forces were reported to be rapidly moving out of Changchun. However, it was revealed the Chinese Communist forces are also at Changchun and are so strongly entrenched that it appeared doubtful that the airport could be used to bring in Nationalist troops.

Lacking any armed forces of the Kuomintang officials were said to be unable to take any practical steps toward taking over Manchuria.

Meantime, reports said that Communist forces had already gotten Manchuria's largest coal mines at Fushan, 30 miles east of Mukden, into operation again.

Thousands of armed workers were said to be digging coal for the first time since the collapse of the Japanese. These reports said the Russians removed most equipment of heavy industries in the area but did not touch the Fushan colliery. The Mukden arsenal and the automobile factory at Shupingkuai on the Mukden-Changchun railroad were said to have been shipped to outer Mongolia. The Japanese military laboratory at Changchun was also said to have been dismantled and shipped to Siberia.

MILLERS STILL IN 'CRITICAL' CONDITION HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller, victims of an automobile accident on route 104 Tuesday remained in a critical condition at Berger hospital Thursday afternoon. Mr. Miller's condition was reported worse while Mrs. Miller was reported to be a little better. Both are still unconscious. Mr. Miller still is being given oxygen, the hospital reported.

Their daughter, Cadet Nurse Mary Lou Miller has arrived to be at the side of her parents, from her station at Good Samaritan hospital, Cincinnati. The injured, both of whom suffered skull fractures, are being attended by Dr. Ned Griner. An effort has been made to contact the son, Lt. Robert Earl Miller, Jr., who is a liaison pilot in Germany, but as yet no reply has been received from him.

Oxygen was administered to Mr. Miller Wednesday and it is feared that he suffered internal injuries. He was in a very dangerous condition when brought into the hospital after the wreck and was given blood plasma. The Miller car skidded on the wet road of the dangerous dip curve just south of Wayne township school Tuesday morning and hit the bridge and the occupants were thrown out of the car against the bridge.

lot. But the crowd was larger and almost 100 policemen were detailed to handle it.

The crowd sighed as he reached the altar. Someone muttered, "the vision!" heads turned. The crowd stared toward something white, apparently swaying in mid-air back of Joseph.

But it proved to be a woman spectator, dressed in a glistening white raincoat, standing precariously on a fence.

Joseph began praying. Many echoed his words. A group of young girls began singing softly and the rain increased its constant patter.

"He isn't getting wet," someone whispered and it was passed through the crowd. "The boy isn't getting wet."

Then, near the end of his prayers, a photographer used a flash bulb.

"That's when Jo-Jo got mad," Chichi Huffino, a husky neighbor, said later. "He didn't like that."

Huffino picked up Joseph and hurried off with him down an alley, putting a fence between himself and the eager crowd. The boy was returned to his house, near the edge of the field, before any of the curious could touch him.

Many left the scene, convinced that they had witnessed a miracle. James Sheridan, 44, of the Bronx, said, "I'm hard to convince, see. But I saw it. It was there on the side of the building. I saw the Virgin's figure, just as plain as anything."

"Did you see the sky?" asked Mrs. Julie C. Murphy, of Manhattan. "I tell you the clouds just opened up and I saw an angel's head with butterfly wings. Everyone around me saw it. The crowd was in a panic."

Mrs. Millie Miller said that her three-year-old son, Fred, had suddenly regained use of his paralyzed right hand after she had rubbed it with some earth given to her by Joseph.

All these people crowded into the tiny Vitolo home last night. These, and many others.

Finally a member of the family shouted to a policeman. "Officer, will you please clear these people out?"

"I will," replied the officer.

Then there was a gasp.

The policeman was embarrassed. Someone had taken his night stick.

MORE BODIES OF FLIERS FOUND

bodies dressed in flying jackets and coveralls were found by a recovery team under S/Sgt. Julius H. Waters, Huntington, Ark.

There was no mound to indicate a grave, Waters said. The bodies were wrapped in straw matting and buried three feet deep.

A Japanese workman at a nearby foundry had told investigators he saw the two fliers taken into custody by Japanese police after parachuting safely. Later he retracted the statement.

The wrists of one of the men were bound together by a rope which was wound around his neck.

The grave of the other men was covered with loose boards and marked by a simple wooden plank inscribed:

"May 24th died in action B-29 crew grave."

The bodies were found after an anonymous letter addressed to Lt. H. J. Schroeder, Carteret, N. J., suggested that the temple graveyards be searched.

Previously witnesses said a Superfort had crashed into the temple, which was wrecked.

Capt. Edgar L. Feinberg, Atlantic City, N. J., an 8th army medical officer, said an autopsy indicated the men had not been hanged because of the condition of their vertebrae. He said the bodies had decomposed to such an extent that he was unable to make an exact medical determination of the cause of death.

WATER SYSTEM PURCHASE IS TURNED DOWN

MASSILLON VOTERS WANT COMPANY TO OPERATE PLANT

Voters of Massillon at the recent election turned down a proposal to condemn and purchase the property of the Ohio Water Service Company, by a vote of 3,458 to 2,448. The issue was placed on the ballot as a result of a financing contract the city council made with a Cleveland bond house about a year ago, and the resultant legislation to condemn passed by the council.

A heated campaign of several weeks duration preceded the election in which both the City of Massillon and the company set forth their respective claims as to the merits of the proposal. This campaign disclosed that engineers for the city had appraised the company's property at $1,500,000 while the company's appraisal was $2,400,000.

The issue was settled on its merits alone, since the city administration which had sponsored the purchase was returned to office, both the mayor and council. The mayor issued a public statement that they will abide by the decision of the voters, that the people have spoken and they do not want to buy the waterworks, and contract negotiations will begin immediately with the company.

Ohio Water Service Company owns and operates the water systems in Washington C. H., Circleville, Marysville, Struthers and an industrial system in the Youngstown area, in addition to the Massillon plant.

In the Tel Aviv port a British steamer discharged a cargo for the army. It was loaded into trucks but kept in port awaiting a convoy for passage through Tel Aviv.

Tel Aviv was still tense at midday with plundering reported at government offices and occasional bomb explosions and shooting.

Jewish anger at Britain's policy toward Palestine flared into open violence last night after word reached Tel Aviv that the entire question had been referred to an Anglo-American board of inquiry.

lot. But the crowd was larger and almost 100 policemen were detailed to handle it.

The crowd sighed as he reached the altar. Someone muttered, "the vision!" heads turned. The crowd stared toward something white, apparently swaying in mid-air back of Joseph.

But it proved to be a woman spectator, dressed in a glistening white raincoat, standing precariously on a fence.

Joseph began praying. Many echoed his words. A group of young girls began singing softly and the rain increased its constant patter.

"He isn't getting wet," someone whispered and it was passed through the crowd. "The boy isn't getting wet."

Then, near the end of his prayers, a photographer used a flash bulb.

"That's when Jo-Jo got mad," Chichi Huffino, a husky neighbor, said later. "He didn't like that."

Huffino picked up Joseph and hurried off with him down an alley, putting a fence between himself and the eager crowd. The boy was returned to his house, near the edge of the field, before any of the curious could touch him.

Many left the scene, convinced that they had witnessed a miracle. James Sheridan, 44, of the Bronx, said, "I'm hard to convince, see. But I saw it. It was there on the side of the building. I saw the Virgin's figure, just as plain as anything."

"Did you see the sky?" asked Mrs. Julie C. Murphy, of Manhattan. "I tell you the clouds just opened up and I saw an angel's head with butterfly wings. Everyone around me saw it. The crowd was in a panic."

Mrs. Millie Miller said that her three-year-old son, Fred, had suddenly regained use of his paralyzed right hand after she had rubbed it with some earth given to her by Joseph.

All these people crowded into the tiny Vitolo home last night. These, and many others.

Finally a member of the family shouted to a policeman. "Officer, will you please clear these people out?"

"I will," replied the officer. Then there was a gasp.

The policeman was embarrassed. Someone had taken his night stick.

FORCES CHANGED

BERLIN, Nov. 15—The 82nd airborne division, the American occupation force for Berlin, will be replaced Sunday by the 78th Light Infantry division. It was announced today. All of the 82nd except for a small close-out force will leave Berlin by Sunday for assembly in the command area near Paris where it is due to remain until early January.

NAZI TRIALS OPEN

DACHAU, Nov. 15—Forty-two Germans went on trial before a U. S. military government court today on charges of murdering thousands of persons at the notorious Dachau concentration camp by torture, starvation and sadistic experiments.

If an airplane engine cowl came loose it would be "sucked" forward into the propeller, due to the low pressure area existing in that region.

and you better not testify against him or me," Sakakida quoted the officer as saying.

He named the man as Col. Nishihara, former judge advocate in Yamashita's headquarters command.

The surprise accusation climaxed an eyewitness account by Sakakida of the drumhead trial and beheading of 1,800 civilians, including a number of Americans, in Manila last December.

Sakakida, who said he acted as interpreter for the victim's throughout the trial in Manila's old Bilibid prison, named Nishihara as the presiding judge at that mock hearing.

Two thousand civilian men and women were brought before the Japanese military tribunal on charges of guerrilla activity, Sakakida said. Their trial, which lasted for a week, consisted solely of a reading of the accusation against them.

Each of the prisoners was forced to sign, after which 1,800 of them were dragged out to Manila's north cemetery and beheaded, Sakakida said. The fate of the other 200 was not known. He testified that the accused had no attorneys or defense witnesses and were denied all right of appeal.

The witness said he personally saw 250 of the victims executed, among them five women and seven Americans. They were forced to kneel at the edge of a pit and their heads were lopped off by Japanese soldiers.

Sakakida also said two U. S. Navy pilots who were shot down over the Philippines in August, 1944, were denied treatment as prisoners of war. They were not admitted to the Manila military prison and he was unable to find out what happened to them.

Sakakida, who lives in Honolulu, was released when the Japanese surrendered Baguio.

Sakakida said the attempt to block his testimony was made last week when he visited a Japanese prison camp in Manila and met Nishihara.

The court recessed after his testimony to consider the subornation charge.

motive labor situation, union officials scheduled a mass meeting of Windsor, Ont., strikers to report on the status of a strike against the Ford Motor company of Canada, is now in its third month.

Union officials who returned last night from conferences with top Canadian labor leaders, termed the discussions "productive" but refused to say whether proposals had been agreed upon to end the 64-day-old work stoppage.

A voluntary 10 per cent pay boost announced yesterday for 70,000 General Motors salaried employees, was regarded as a possible basis for a new offer to UAW officials, representing the company's 350,000 production employees.

The increase, rejected by the UAW for its members during negotiations last week, promptly was branded a "down payment" on the 30 per cent which the union claims the company can grant without boosting prices.

MORE BODIES OF FLIERS FOUND

bodies dressed in flying jackets and coveralls were found by a recovery team under S/Sgt. Julius H. Waters, Huntington, Ark.

There was no mound to indicate a grave, Waters said. The bodies were wrapped in straw matting and buried three feet deep.

A Japanese workman at a nearby foundry had told investigators he saw the two fliers taken into custody by Japanese police after parachuting safely. Later he retracted the statement.

The wrists of one of the men were bound together by a rope which was wound around his neck.

The grave of the other men was covered with loose boards and marked by a simple wooden plank inscribed:

"May 24th died in action B-29 crew grave."

The bodies were found after an anonymous letter addressed to Lt. H. J. Schroeder, Carteret, N. J., suggested that the temple graveyards be searched.

Previously witnesses said a Superfort had crashed into the temple, which was wrecked.

Capt. Edgar L. Feinberg, Atlantic City, N. J., an 8th army medical officer, said an autopsy indicated the men had not been hanged because of the condition of their vertebrae. He said the bodies had decomposed to such an extent that he was unable to make an exact medical determination of the cause of death.

"Each morning, when breakfast is served in the suite, a fresh appropriate bouquet of flowers (Jane loves Tailsman roses) to be delivered to my wife. Each morning, when breakfast is served, a new doll or suitable toy to be delivered to my daughter Susan."

Also on the captain's request list were a one-way telephone, a motherly maid in black dress, and white cap and apron for Susan, a radio, a record player, Strauss records (especially "Tales of the Vienna Woods") and a list of food.

Lillyman, who holds 12 decorations including the distinguished service cross and the purple heart with two clusters, concluded his letter:

"I am afraid my desires are a bit far-fetched, but there they are and once again I'll ask three questions."

"Can you do it?"

"How much will it cost? (I'm a captain, not a general.)"

"How much advance notice will you require (Guarantee to wire you the day I hit the states.)"

The Hotel Pennsylvania management cabled, "meet all demands. All on the house."

But the captain didn't get the cable. He was on the way home. As soon as he could, he went to the hotel and plunked down $500. They told him to put it away and go home to Skaneateles, N. Y., and get his wife and daughter and bring them to New York. He did.

office branch in Tel Aviv and destroyed furniture and papers.

In the Tel Aviv port a British steamer discharged a cargo for the army. It was loaded into trucks but kept in port awaiting a convoy for passage through Tel Aviv.

Tel Aviv was still tense at midday with plundering reported at government offices and occasional bomb explosions and shooting.

Jewish anger at Britain's policy toward Palestine flared into open violence last night after word reached Tel Aviv that the entire question had been referred to an Anglo-American board of inquiry.

A mob of several thousand Jews formed quickly, many of them teen-aged extremists, and stormed the British government offices. They broke through a police cordon into the buildings, where they put the torch to the offices and hurled records and furniture into the streets.

A detachment of the British sixth airborne division was rushed in to aid the police and the Tommies opened fire when the mob refused to break off the attack.

SCHOOL HEALTH DAY SCHEDULED

Christmas Seal Sale, To Be Marked By Students On December 7

Pickaway county schools will observe School Health Day December 7 in cooperation with the National Tuberculosis Association. In connection with the day workers of the Pickaway county branch of the association will visit schools to award "bangles", little pins with health crosses to the students who buy Christmas seals or give to the health fund. Mrs. Cleon Webb, chairman, has announced.

In announcing School Health Day, Clyde Hissong, director of education of Ohio, advised that special programs in the schools on this day emphasize the progress made in controlling tuberculosis and in advancing school health in general. Special study pamphlets prepared by a committee of Cincinnati teachers are available from the Pickaway tuberculosis association for use on the day, he said.

One section of the study unit is called "Together We Build" and has been planned for use in the grade schools. The second section, "Rehabilitation", is for use in high schools. The theme of both sections is the same—how handicapped persons can be assisted in finding worthwhile occupations which will also satisfy their desire to lead useful lives.

"Through this study project," Dr. Hissong explained, "we hope that our school children will come to realize that persons physically handicapped, whether as a result of war injuries or from the ravages of a disease such as tuberculosis, can lead constructive, useful lives, and that there are many ways in which each person in the community can aid them in making their adjustment."

Three men from this area, Cpl. Vernon O. Bethel, route 1 New Holland; T-5 Elden E. Beaver, Mt. Sterling; and Cpl. John T. McGath, Mt. Sterling, have been discharged from the Army at Indiantown Gap, Pa.

RATIONING OF WHISKY IN OHIO WILL CONTINUE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Whisky rationing in Ohio will continue for at least the rest of the year, it was indicated today by State Liquor Director Robert M. Sohngen.

Sohngen, just returned from the Monopoly States Conference in Chicago, said he could not speculate on how long rationing will continue after this year.

He hinted that there may be a pact formed between the three big monopoly states, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania, inasmuch as the state directors involved were in accord on joint action on rationing.

The ration during the next period would be the same as in the past, one unit of whisky for a three-week period, he added. But it may be reduced thereafter.

Director Sohngen said he soon expected to announce drastic price cuts on slow-moving brands of rum and brandy. This cut would be below cost in order to turn over the large stocks inherited from the previous administration.

'FLU' CLOSES ALL SCHOOLS AT CHILLICOTHE

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 15 — An epidemic of influenza which kept 1,007 pupils away from their classes in Chillicothe schools has brought an order from city school and health authorities for all city schools to close for the remainder of the week.

All the schools in the city, including the parochial schools have closed, but the Ross county schools are still open as the epidemic has not spread to them yet, it was announced.

Dr. R. E. Bower, health commissioner, said the school children must observe rigid controls and must stay away from crowded places including movies, Sunday schools, athletic contests and other public places.

School officials announced that the absenteeism was the greatest in the high school in the past ten years, and said that so many students were absent that classroom work had been brought to a standstill.

Nearby federal institutions and local industries have escaped the plague so far, a checkup Tuesday disclosed. Absenteeism at factories was normal and no cases were reported at federal institutions.

Original shape of Fort D. A. Russell, now Fort F. E. Warren, Wyo., was that of a diamond.

RATIONING OF WHISKY IN OHIO WILL CONTINUE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Whisky rationing in Ohio will continue for at least the rest of the year, it was indicated today by State Liquor Director Robert M. Sohngen.

Sohngen, just returned from the Monopoly States' Conference in Chicago, said he could not speculate on how long rationing will continue after this year.

He hinted that there may be a pact formed between the three big monopoly states, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania, inasmuch as the state directors involved were in accord on joint action on rationing.

The ration during the next period would be the same as in the past, one unit of whiskey for a three-week period, he added. But it may be reduced thereafter.

Director Sohngen said he soon expected to announce drastic price cuts on slow-moving brands of rum and brandy. This cut would be below cost in order to turn over the large stocks inherited from the previous administration.

SCHOOL HEALTH DAY SCHEDULED

Christmas Seal Sale To Be Marked By Students On December 7

Pickaway county schools will observe School Health Day December 7 in cooperation with the National Tuberculosis Association. In connection with the day workers of the association will visit schools to award "bangles", little pins with health crosses to the students who buy Christmas seals or give to the health fund. Mrs. Cleon Webb, chairman, has announced.

In announcing School Health Day, Clyde Hissong, director of education of Ohio, advised that special programs in the schools on this day emphasize the progress made in controlling tuberculosis and in advancing school health in general. Special study pamphlets prepared by a committee of Cincinnati teachers are available from the Pickaway tuberculosis association for use on the day, he said.

One section of the study unit is called "Together We Build" and has been planned for use in the grade schools. The second section, "Rehabilitation", is for use in high schools. The theme of both sections is the same—how handicapped persons can be assisted in finding worthwhile occupations which will also satisfy their desire to lead useful lives.

"Through this study program," Dr. Hissong explained, "we hope that our school children will come to realize that persons physically handicapped, whether as a result of war injuries or from the ravages of a disease such as tuberculosis, can lead constructive, useful lives, and that there are many ways in which each person in the community can aid them in making their adjustment."

'FLU' CLOSES ALL SCHOOLS AT CHILLICOTHE

CHILLICOTHE, Nov. 15—An epidemic of influenza which kept 1,007 pupils away from their classes in Chillicothe schools has brought an order from city school and health authorities for all city schools to close for the remainder of the week.

All the schools in the city, including the parochial schools have closed, but the Ross county schools are still open as the epidemic has not spread to them yet, it was announced.

Dr. R. E. Bower, health commissioner, said the school children must observe rigid controls and must stay away from crowded places including movies, Sunday schools, athletic contests and other public places.

School officials announced that the absenteeism was the greatest in the high school in the past ten years, and said that so many students were absent that classroom

Nearly federal institutions and local industries have escaped the plague so far, a checkup Tuesday disclosed. Absenteeism at factories was normal and no cases were reported at federal institutions.

MODERN PROTECTION

The modern circuit-breaker gives complete protection. It doesn't burn out like the old-fashioned fuse—just flips open to cut off current. All you do is remove the trouble—flick the circuit breaker handle back—current flows again. Nothing to "blow out," nothing to renew or replace.

As you plan for home modernization, or dream of the home you'll build—include the modern protection of circuit-breakers.

WIRE FOR THE FUTURE!

Your Check-List for Electrical Service

- ☐ ADEQUATE SERVICE ENTRANCE Large enough wire and service switch to carry sufficient load for the entire home.
- ☐ MODERN PROTECTION Install circuit-breakers, an improvement over fuses. This protective device accommodates momentary peak loads, "cuts out" only when the extra load continues.
- ☐ ENOUGH CIRCUITS There's a limit to the number of lights and appliances electrical wiring can supply. Make sure your new wiring has enough circuits to supply all areas.
- ☐ LARGE ENOUGH WIRES Wire of a given size can carry only so much electricity. Be sure wiring is adequate for present and future needs.
- ☐ HIGH QUALITY WIRING DEVICES Convenience outlets and switches are made in different qualities — at varying prices. It pays to install the best — Underwriters' Approved quality wiring devices.
- ☐ ENOUGH OUTLETS An outlet for every appliance and lamp, plus a few extras.

NORMAN MAKES SHORT VISIT TO HOME TOWN

Former Circleville Resident Is Featured Magician And Cartomancer

Norman, who "foretells your future by cartomancy", left his home town of Circleville Wednesday night after a short visit with friends here.

Norman is on his way to Miami Beach, Florida, where he is engaged at the Copacabana until April 1 when he will return to New York, where he has attained wide fame as a person who tells fortune by cards, presents card tricks and stages magic shows.

Norman is Norman Aronson, who was graduated from Circleville high school a few years ago. He left the community five years ago and has been in New York 3 1/2 years. While here Norman promoted boxing shows. He studied law at Ohio Northern University but decided to work at "what he wanted to do".

During his short visit home he was the guest of Ralph Wallace, who has recently returned from service with the Coast Guard as a trainer of war dogs.

Norman's card informs you that he will gladly entertain you: "Should you desire sensational revelations and the unknown brought to light call for Norman".

He has entertained at the "Casbah", Navarro hotel, New York city, one year; Revere room, Hotel Lexington, New York, one year; Pazo-Pago room, Vanderbilt hotel, Miami Beach, one year. He has entertained at private affairs at the Waldorf-Astoria, Savoy-Plaza, St. Regis, Sherry Netherland and Club "21".

The featured entertainer at many parties, Norman has performed for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Gail Patrick, Vincent Rockefeller, Anne Baxter, Elizabeth Scott, Wendy Barrie, Hugh Herbert, Glenda Farrell and Morton Downey.

Feature writings have been given Norman by Life magazine and International News Service. Various writers have this to say about him:

"Practically infallible cartomancer", Earl Wilson, New York Post; "Does some remarkable card tricks", Lee Mortimer, New York Daily Mirror; "Is a master of cartomancy", Charles M. Siegel, New York World Telegram; "Unusual card tricks", Virginia Forbes, New York Sun; "His entertainment value is there", Paul Bruin, Miami Beach Daily Tropics; "Steadfastly predicts things which come true", Jack Kofoid, Miami Daily News.

YELLOW, WHITE PAINT ORDERED FOR HIGHWAYS

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Ohio has contracted for 12,000 gallons of white paint and 2,000 gallons of yellow paint toward the 100,000 gallons normally used to stripe state highways, Perry T. Ford, state highway director, said today.

Emergency measures were used during the war, when good paint was unavailable. Black paint was sometimes used on black pavement, on the theory that it was better than nothing, and yellow paint was sometimes mixed with white to make it go further.

Because all the paint necessary for all highways is not yet available, Ford has ordered division engineers to paint first the areas where fog is prevalent.

The state asked for bids on highway paint earlier this year, but none were submitted. Now the 14,000 gallons of pre-war quality paint have been promised for delivery.

The more than 3,000 officers and men aboard one of the U. S. Navy's largest aircraft carriers wore out 100 pairs of shoes a week. The ship carried a completely equipped cobbler's shop to repair them.

Riches for Child

FRANCES BROKAW, shown here with her mother and stepfather, the Henry Fondas, will be rated among America's richest heiresses with the settlement in her favor of the estate of her late grandfather, Isaac Brokaw. When 14-year-old Frances' stepfather, Ann Brokaw, daughter of Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce, was killed in an auto accident, the question of whether the property left Ann by her grandfather would go to Mrs. Luce or to Frances was undecided. Frances' mother is the former Mrs. George T. Brokaw, now wed to the screen star.

NEW BONUSES TO BE PAID VETS OF WORLD WAR I

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The World War I bonus, which has netted veterans $3,809,816,528 is now paying off $2,750,000.

The veterans administration says checks averaging $250 each will go to 11,000 war I servicemen thanks to changed policy in computing interest on loans made against adjusted service (bonus) certificates.

Heretofore interest was computed from date of loan to maturity of the certificate (usually January, 1945). The new policy calls for interest charges only to Oct. 1, 1931. Where due, the extra payments will be made automatically.

Congress authorized redemption of the certificates in 1936, about nine years before their maturity date, after years of controversy that culminated in the famous bonus march of Washington. However, some 18,000 certificates are still outstanding, with net value of approximately $12,000,000.

GUNFIRE LOOKED LIKE FIRE

SEATTLE — Terrific firepower of the mighty battleship Iowa, capable of firing 8,900 shells and bullets every 10 seconds led American pilots and other craft nearby to believe the battleship had been hit by enemy fire, Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger told Seattle officials during fleet celebrations here.

"Several times during the last Pacific actions we were believed hit when actually it was just the flash and glare of all our guns," the admiral said.

Norman is on his way to Miami Beach, Florida, where he is engaged at the Copacabana until April 1 when he will return to New York, where he has attained wide fame as a person who tells fortune by cards, presents card tricks and stages magic shows.

Norman is Norman Aronson, who was graduated from Circleville high school a few years ago. He left the community five years ago and has been in New York 3 1/2 years. While here Norman promoted boxing shows. He studied law at Ohio Northern University but decided to work at "what he wanted to do".

During his short visit home he was the guest of Ralph Wallace, who has recently returned from service with the Coast Guard as a trainer of war dogs.

Norman's card informs you that he will gladly entertain you: "Should you desire sensational revelations and the unknown brought to light call for Norman".

He has entertained at the "Casbah", Navarro hotel, New York city, one year; Revere room, Hotel Lexington, New York, one year; Pago-Pago room, Vanderbilt hotel, Miami Beach, one year. He has entertained at private affairs at the Waldorf-Astoria, Savoy-Plaza, St. Regis, Sherry Netherland and Club "21".

The featured entertainer at many parties, Norman has performed for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Gail Patrick, Vincent Rockefeller, Anne Baxter, Elizabeth Scott, Wendy Barrie, Hugh Herbert, Glenda Farrell and Morton Downey.

Feature writeups have been given Norman by Life magazine and International News Service. Various writers have this to say about him:

YELLOW, WHITE PAINT ORDERED FOR HIGHWAYS

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15.—Ohio has contracted for 12,000 gallons of white paint and 2,000 gallons of yellow paint toward the 100,000 gallons normally used to stripe state highways. Perry T. Ford, state highway director, said today.

Emergency measures were used during the war, when good paint was unobtainable. Black paint was sometimes used on black pavement, on the theory that it was better than nothing, and yellow paint was sometimes mixed with white to make it go further.

Because all the paint necessary for all highways is not yet available, Ford has ordered division engineers to paint first the areas where fog is prevalent.

The state asked for bids on highway paint earlier this year, but none were submitted. Now the 14,000 gallons of pre-war quality paint have been promised for delivery.

The more than 3,000 officers and men aboard one of the U. S. Navy's largest aircraft carriers wore out 100 pairs of shoes a week. The ship carried a completely equipped cobbler's shop to repair them.

FRANCES BROKAW, shown here with her mother and stepfather, the Henry Fondas, will be rated among America's richest heiresses with the settlement in her favor of the estate of her late grandfather, Isac Brokaw. When 14-year-old Frances' stepfather, Ann Brokaw, daughter of Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce, was killed in an auto accident, the question of whether the property left Ann by her grandfather would go to Mrs. Luce or to Frances was undecided. Frances' mother is the former Mrs. George T. Brokaw, now wed to the screen star. (International)

NEW BONUSES TO BE PAID VETS OF WORLD WAR I

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The World War I bonus, which has netted veterans $3,809,816,528 is now paying off $2,750,000.

The veterans administration says checks averaging $250 each will go to 11,000 war I servicemen thanks to changed policy in computing interest on loans made against adjusted service (bonus) certificates.

Heretofore interest was computed from date of loan to maturity of the certificate (usually January, 1945). The new policy calls for interest charges only to Oct. 1, 1931. Where due, the extra payments will be made automatically. Congress authorized redemption of the certificates in 1936, about nine years before their maturity date, after years of controversy that culminated in the famous bonus march of Washington. However, some 18,000 certificates are still outstanding, with net value of approximately $12,000,000.

GUNFIRE LOOKED LIKE FIRE SEATTLE.—Terrific firepower of the mighty battleship Iowa, capable of firing 8,000 shells and bullets every 10 seconds led American pilots and other craft nearby to believe the battleship had been hit by enemy fire. Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger told Seattle officials during fleet celebrations here. "Several times during the last Pacific actions we were believed hit when actually it was just the flash and glare of all our guns," the admiral said.

NOVEMBER 21 DEADLINE SET

Army Veterans May Regain Rank By Re-Enlisting Before Tuesday

Army veterans who enlist before Tuesday, November 21 may regain the highest non-commissioned rank they held at discharge providing they left the Army between May 11 and November 1 this year.

Announcement of the November 21 deadline was made today by Lt. Col. Francis J. Hoermann commanding officer of the Columbus recruiting station.

Men discharged as privates between May 11 and November 1 will be promoted to private first class if they had at least six months' service and enlist before November 21, it was pointed out.

Re-enlistment bonuses and furloughs will be given to men meeting this deadline. Veterans discharged after November 1 must re-enlist within 20 days to regain their highest former rank.

The November quota for Regular Army enlistments in the Columbus district has been set at 229, according to Lt. Col. Hoermann. Since opening the campaign in September, the Columbus station has enlisted 189 men.

The 70-county Cleveland district, of which this station is a part, is leading the Fifth Service Command's campaign to obtain 70,000 enlistees by July 1, 1946.

Last chance for Pickaway county veterans to enlist in Circleville before the deadline will be Saturday. Sgt. Loren Crissinger, Circleville soldier in the recruiting service, and other members of the Columbus recruiting staff will be at the Circleville post office from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. to accept enlistments and give any information sought by men interested in enlisting in the regular army.

I remember when we used to feature new Gas Ranges for Thanksgiving

Yes, we used to feature new gas ranges about this time of year. That's because we know that Thanksgiving time means COOKING time to most of you ladies. It's the season of the year when many of you would like to replace your outmoded range for a modern new gas range. Right now, of course, there just aren't enough to go around. But manufacturers tell The Gas Company, and other dealers, that the supply will be more plentiful soon. Until then, let's be thankful if we have a range we can get along with until more gas ranges are available.

I remember when we used to feature new Gas Ranges for Thanksgiving

Yes, we used to feature new gas ranges about this time of year. That's because we know that Thanksgiving time means COOKING time to most of you ladies. It's the season of the year when many of you would like to replace your outmoded range for a modern new gas range. Right now, of course, there just aren't enough to go around. But manufacturers tell The Gas Company, and other dealers, that the supply will be more plentiful soon. Until then, let's be thankful if we have a range we can get along with until more gas ranges are available.

ATOMIC SANITY

SOME of the atomic bomb experts, or men posing as experts, are certainly going strong these days. Here is General H. H. Arnold, at Washington, for instance, warning us that not only is our world as we know it shaping up to spread havoc on this earth, but atomic bomb warfare waged from inter-stellar space is "within the foreseeable future."

"War may descend upon us," he says, "by thousands of robots passing unannounced across our shorelines, unless we act to prevent them." And the way to prevent them, it seems, is to strike at the source of attack with a strategic air force delivering "one or two atomic bombs." It isn't quite clear whether he is referring to bombs from other planets, or whether they are expected to be fabricated somewhere on this earth for secret delivery. Presumably the latter process is meant; as far as the rest of us are aware, there is as yet no secret contact with the Martians.

But it is really no jesting matter. There may be millions of people on this earth right now nearly scared to death from all this loose talk. And the thing most needed to preserve national sanity is to hasten agreement among the great powers of this little world.

PEACE CHALLENGE

"BE ashamed to die until you have won some victory for humanity." These words of the pioneer educator Horace Mann are cut on a statue of him on the campus of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, where he was the college head until his death in 1859.

With the war over and its call for gallantry and self-sacrifice silenced, a moral let-down is creeping over a tired world. Youth particularly, too young for battle calls of the last few years, is likely to emerge into tomorrow's stage feeling it has missed its chance, that no exciting adventures are left for it. Here in Mann's philosophy is a reminder that humanity remains to be served; that a life can still measure its achievements by its contributions to the world's vast needs. The job of peace is less spectacular than the demands of war. But it is a job. And somehow the world's people, particularly its young people, must be made to see it as a thrilling job.

We can't quite get used to our political government going scientific.

This nation seems to need a strike against strikes.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE.... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up, out and about the ville on a chilly morning made even colder by neglect to wear a topcoat in from the farm. Maybe it is really Winter this time. Met Clarence Helvering, the fuel dealer and city official. One eye under bandage and he under continuous badinage as a result. Every day a score of "how comes?" and Clarence right out with a score of different explanations. Heard him give three different versions and wished I could follow him around for the rest of the day. Truth is that he has a minor eye ailment. Said he looks for some easing of the coal situation in the Spring, maybe sooner.

There goes Ed Jury, the phone company manager, who now has been a resident of the city several months and still is looking for a house. Drives about eighty miles a day to and from his office here. Saw the deer hunters back from the Goulais bay country and learned that they got no game. Didn't even see a buck. Canadians told them wolves had devoured out the deer.

Chatted with Ray Reid and found him worried by speed of traffic past the high school. It really is too fast, Ray suggests more easily seen "school zone" signs and possibly a big one painted on the street.

Cecil Noecker dropped in to tell me about getting a big Canadian goose with a rifle at 140 yards. Good shooting and so did tell him. Much prefer congratulating him on shooting this rather than on the range where he always is seeking my hide and frequently taking it to the wall.

Some say plenty of rabbits this year, some declare they are scarce again, but this weekend will tell the tale. Hunting season opens and all the gunners are prepared for the event. Weather turning off right, too.

Dropped in to view remodeling of show room and office at Jim Stout's garage and found it quite an improvement. Jim up in Detroit to take delivery on a Dodge pick-up, one of the too few new cars obtainable for the county. Outlook none too bright, either.

Visited Bob Brehmer's booth at Gallaher's, the one where a big chrysanthemum is handed out to bond buyers. Never saw finer mums, and among them varieties I did not know exist. Harry Swearingen dropped in to deliver a big box of gladioli bulbs, a special selection from the ones that have made him our mid-state glad growing champ for a long time. He is quitting the hobby.

Down on South Court street for a visit with Frank Lynch, Circleville's number one citizen who a long time ago was stricken with paralysis and who is sorely missed in all our civic councils. Greatly improved is that Irishman and now looking like himself before he fell ill. No longer does he need night and day nurses. Gets around the house by himself. Is in a reasonably happy state of mind, but he misses his legion of friends, the ones he met every day when he was able to be about the ville. One day he will be out again, but that day is not now. Being alone all day except for his fine housekeeper must be pretty lonesome for Frank. He got a lot of pleasure out of laughing and talking over "old times" of four and five years ago. And that visit was like "old times" to me, too. Frank is not a has been. He still is Frank Lynch. And that is a mighty important name in these parts.

Three Groups of Symptoms In Essential Hypertension

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IN THE disorder called essential hypertension there is not only high blood pressure but the blood pressure is variable; that is, it does not stay at the same level all the time. As a general rule, the persons who have this condition are over-active both emotionally and physically. In other words, they are quick-tempered, oversensitive, serious, and walk, talk, eat and work rapidly. In treating essential hypertension, these characteristics must be borne in mind.

The symptoms of essential hypertension, according to Doctor David Ayman of Boston, may be divided into three groups: First, those due to the emotional makeup of the person; second, the symptoms related to the spasm of the blood vessels in different parts of the body and, third, those due to the lack of blood supply to the tissues which, in turn, comes from the spasm of the blood vessels.

First Group

In treating the first group of symptoms, an effort must be made to find the problems which are troubling the affected person and then to correct them, if possible. Sedative drugs may be helpful in the proper dose, prescribed by the doctor. It is this particular group of symptoms which respond to reassurance in any form whether it be by giving some relatively inactive drug or in other ways.

The symptoms due to spasm of the blood vessels may also be treated by sedatives and relaxation. In some cases the drug known as potassium thiocyanate may be employed. Relaxation may be helpful in keeping the blood pressure down, particularly after excitement or mental strain.

Period of Bed Rest

During periods when the blood pressure is much higher than ordinary, a period of rest in bed will aid in lowering it. Doctor Ayman believes that the thiocyanate will act favorably on headaches that are often associated with high blood pressure and, also will often lower the blood pressure for the time being.

However, the dose is carefully regulated in each case and it is not used until the doctor makes sure that the patient's kidneys are in reasonably good condition and that the patient does not have heart weakness.

With proper treatment, much can be done to lower the blood pressure in many persons with essential hypertension.

ON their arrival back at Gull's Point, Hurstall came out into the hall and spoke to Mary.

"Would you go up at once to her ladyship, Miss? She is feeling very upset and wanted to see you as soon as you got in."

Mary hurried up the stairs. She found Lady Treaslian looking white and shaken.

"Dear Mary, I am so glad you have come. I am feeling most distressed. Poor Mr. Treves is dead."

"Dead?"

"Yes, isn't it terrible? So sudden. Apparently he didn't even get undressed last night. He must have collapsed as soon as he got home."

"Oh, dear, I am sorry."

"One knows, of course, that he was delicate. A weak heart. I hope nothing happened while he was here to overstrain it? There was nothing indigestible for dinner?"

"I don't think so—no, I am sure there wasn't. He seemed quite well and in good spirits."

"I am really very distressed. I wish, Mary, that you would go to the Balmoral Court and make a few inquiries of Mrs. Rogers. Ask her if there is anything we can do? And then the funeral. For Matthew's sake I would like to do anything we could. These things are so awkward at a hotel."

Mary spoke firmly.

"Dear Camilla, you really must not worry. This has been a shock to you."

"Indeed it has."

"I will go to the Balmoral Court at once and then come back and tell you all about things."

"Thank you, Mary dear, you are always so practical and understanding."

"Please try and rest now. A shock of this kind is so bad for you."

Mary Aldin left the room and came downstairs. Entering the drawing room she exclaimed:

"Old Mr. Treves is dead. He died last night after returning home."

"Poor old boy," exclaimed Neville. "What was it?"

"Heart apparently. He collapsed as soon as he got in."

Thomas Royde said thoughtfully, "I wonder if the stairs did him in."

"Stairs?" Mary looked at him inquiringly.

"Yes. When Latimer and I left him he was just starting up. We told him to take it slow."

Mary exclaimed: "But how very foolish of him not to take the lift."

SET UP THE SEQUENCE

THERE is a special danger in trying to set up the small spot cards of a four or five-card suit. If the defenders' cards in it are badly divided against the declarer, he may find that he sets up one or more cards for them instead of for himself. That danger does not exist, however, in establishing the lower cards of a solid sequence, which can be set up by merely driving out the higher cards. If anything gets established there, it is bound to be for the holder of the sequence.

Against South's big hand, West decided the burden of defense must rest with East, and so led his shortest suit of clubs, hoping it would be East's longest. When he played, it looked to South as if West had led the top of the 7-6-2. If so, he could get game with four tricks in clubs, two in diamonds and three in hearts in case the finesse would work.

Planning to establish his club

thirteen first, he won the first trick with the club A, then laid down the K. Oh, what a rude shock when West discarded the heart 7, telling him how long East's clubs were. Changing plans now—but just too late, as it developed—he led the spade J. East false-carded with the A, then knocked out the club Q. The spade Q was then led, and East held up the K, blocking the dummy. Thoroughly licked now, South finessed the heart J to the Q, and West returned his last spade to the K. The club J and 10 then set the contract.

South had a sure thing, after winning the first club, if he had led a spade, won the second club lead, led spades again to knock out the other top honor and taken the third club lead. Playing that way, he would have been sure of two tricks each in spades, hearts and diamonds, plus three in clubs.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—The stage Mr. Truman set for the management-labor conference looked better from the back of the wings than the way you saw it out front.

And better than that was the recasting the President did of the principal roles. You may have read here beforehand that John L. Lewis, who is not only a living Hamlet but inspired the play which union labor has enacted the last few years (sit down strike, organization of CIO), was scheduled to carry a spear. He has been limited to one vote and no representation on committees.

But when the curtain went up, there was Mr. Lewis, practically in center stage, less talkative than usual and without a spotlight on him, yet visibly the unannounced star. In fact, the assigned roles were openly revised and the executive committee enlarged to give him full representation.

A few days before Mr. Truman had called Lewis in to the White House, it was not only the first time Lewis had seen the inside of that august edifice for years; it had been years since he had even seen Truman. They had met when Truman was investigating war contracts as a senator. Lewis came in with other union leaders, but remained behind for a private unreported talk. He expressed a sincere personal interest in success for the conference; made clear his belief it was time to get back to collective bargaining (in contradistinction to all this nonsense of strikes, arguments, politics and chaos) and said he was ready to cooperate.

This was a bonanza for Truman, in the theatrical terminology of the day. The conference was being publicly foredoomed. The dominant power was Hillman and his CIO. It was he who took the initiative in handing Lewis the spear role. His tactics are always to fight, fight, fight—especially when the time has come to make peace. Recrimination or selfish political advantage always seem to be guiding stars he cannot get away from—and these practically exclude the barest possibility of peace.

Lewis took hold. The first thing, with AFL's Bill Green standing by his side (Green could never handle Hillman), Lewis turned his bullet-eyes, camouflaged under Karloff eyebrows upon the followers of Mars and said matters would be handled thus and so. They practically were.

The chances for final, convincing peace are hazardous, of course, but this is the way the stage was happily reset to improve them at the last minute. The first two days were steam-vented with speech-making and then the opposing factions went off the front pages and into committee meetings to do the real business.

My information is that the agreed goals were two:

A—Adopt a set of new, strong principles under which labor and management can live.

B—To set up new machinery for collective bargaining.

The principles should not prove excessively difficult. The machinery is the important thing. The national labor relation (Continued on Page Ten)

IN THE disorder called essential hypertension there is not only high blood pressure but the blood pressure is variable; that is, it does not stay at the same level all the time. As a general rule, the persons who have this condition are over-active both emotionally and physically. In other words, they are quick-tempered, over-sensitive, serious, and walk, talk, eat and work rapidly. In treating essential hypertension, these characteristics must be borne in mind.

The symptoms of essential hypertension, according to Doctor David Aymon of Boston, may be divided into three groups: First, those due to the emotional makeup of the person; second, the symptoms related to the spasm of the blood vessels in different parts of the body and, third, those due to the lack of blood supply to the tissues which, in turn, comes from the spasm of the blood vessels.

First Group

In treating the first group of symptoms, an effort must be made to find the problems which are troubling the affected person and then to correct them, if possible. Sedative drugs may be helpful in the proper dose, prescribed by the doctor. It is this particular group of symptoms which respond to reassurance in any form whether it be by giving some relatively inactive drug or in other ways.

The symptoms due to spasm of the blood vessels may also be treated by sedatives and relaxation. In some cases the drug known as potassium thiocyanate may be employed. Relaxation may be helpful in keeping the blood pressure down, particularly after excitement or mental strain.

Period of Bed Rest

During periods when the blood pressure is much higher than ordinary, a period of rest in bed will aid in lowering it. Doctor Aymon believes that the thiocyanate will act favorably on headaches that are often associated with high blood pressure and, also will often lower the blood pressure for the time being.

However, the dose is carefully regulated in each case and it is not used until the doctor makes sure that the patient's kidneys are in reasonably good condition and that the patient does not have heart weakness.

With proper treatment, much can be done to lower the blood pressure in many persons with essential hypertension.

CHAPTER TWENTY

ON their arrival back at Gull's Point, Hurstall came out into the hall and spoke to Mary.

"Would you go up at once to her ladyship, Miss? She is feeling very upset and wanted to see you as soon as you got in."

Mary hurried up the stairs. She found Lady Tressilian looking white and shaken.

"Dear Mary, I am so glad you have come. I am feeling most distressed. Poor Mr. Treves is dead."

"Dead?"

"Yes, isn't it terrible? So sudden. Apparently he didn't even get undressed last night. He must have collapsed as soon as he got home."

"Oh, dear, I am sorry."

"One knows, of course, that he was delicate. A weak heart. I hope nothing happened while he was here to overstrain it. There was nothing indigestible for dinner?"

"I don't think so—no, I am sure there wasn't. He seemed quite well and in good spirits."

"I am really very distressed. I wish, Mary, that you would go to the Balmoral Court and make a few inquiries of Mrs. Rogers. Ask her if there is anything we can do? And then the funeral. For Matthew's sake I would like to do anything we could. These things are so awkward at a hotel."

Mary spoke firmly.

"Dear Camilla, you really must not worry. This has been a shock to you."

"Indeed it has."

"I will go to the Balmoral Court at once and then come back and tell you all about things."

"Thank you, Mary dear, you are always so practical and understanding."

"Please try and rest now. A shock of this kind is so bad for you."

Mary Aldin left the room and came downstairs. Entering the drawing room she exclaimed:

"Old Mr. Treves is dead. He died last night after returning home."

"Poor old boy," exclaimed Neville. "What was it?"

"Heart apparently. He collapsed as soon as he got in."

Thomas Royde said thoughtfully. "I wonder if the stairs did him in."

"Stairs?" Mary looked at him inquiringly.

"Yes. When Latimer and I left him he was just starting up. We told him to take it slow."

Mary exclaimed:

"But how very foolish of him not to take the lift."

"The lift was out of order."

"Oh, I see. How very unfortunate. Poor old man."

She added: "I am going round there now. Camilla wants to know if there is anything we can do."

Thomas said: "I'll come with you."

They walked together down the road and round the corner to the Balmoral Court. Mary remarked:

"I wonder if he has any relatives who ought to be notified."

"He didn't mention anyone."

"No, and people usually do. They say 'my niece' or 'my cousin.'"

"Was he married?"

"I believe not."

They entered the open door of the Balmoral Court.

Mrs. Rogers, the proprietress, was talking to a tall middle-aged man, who raised a friendly hand in greeting to Mary.

"Good afternoon, Miss Aldin."

"Good afternoon, Dr. Lazenby. This is Mr. Royde. We came round with a message from Lady Tressilian to know if there is anything we can do."

"That's very kind of you, Miss Aldin," said the hotel proprietress. "Come into my room, won't you?"

They all went into the small comfortable sitting room and Dr. Lazenby said:

"Mr. Treves was dining at your place last night, wasn't he?"

"Yes."

"How did he seem? Did he show any signs of distress?"

"No, he seemed very well and cheerful."

The doctor nodded.

"Yes, that's the worst of these heart cases. The end is nearly always sudden. I had a look at his prescriptions upstairs and it seems quite clear that he was in a very precarious state of health. I shall communicate with his London doctor, of course."

"He was very careful of himself always," said Mrs. Rogers. "And I'm sure he had every care here we could give him."

"I'm sure of that, Mrs. Rogers," said the doctor tactfully. "It was just some tiny additional strain, no doubt."

"Such as walking upstairs," suggested Mary.

"Yes, that might do it. In fact almost certainly would—that is, if he ever walked up those three flights—but surely he never did do anything of that kind?"

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Rogers. "He always used the lift. Always. He was most particular."

"I mean," said Mary, "that with the lift being out of order last night—"

Mrs. Rogers was staring at her in surprise.

"But the lift wasn't out of order at all yesterday, Miss Aldin."

Thomas Royde coughed.

"Excuse me," he said. "I came home with Mr. Treves last night. There was a placard on the lift saying 'Out of order.'"

Mrs. Rogers stared.

"Well, that's an odd thing. I'd have declared there was nothing wrong with the lift—in fact I sure there wasn't. I'd have heard about it if there was. We haven't had anything go wrong with the lift (touching wood) since—oh, not for a good 18 months. Very reliable it is."

"Perhaps," suggested the doctor, "some porter or hall boy put that notice up when he was off duty?"

"It's an automatic lift, doctor, it doesn't need anyone to work it."

"Ah, yes, so it is. I was forgetting."

"I'll have a word with Joe," said Mrs. Rogers. She bustled out of the room calling, "Joe—Joe."

Dr. Lazenby looked curiously at Thomas.

"Excuse me, you're quite sure, Mr.—"

"Royde," put in Mary.

"Quite sure," said Thomas.

Mrs. Rogers came back with the porter. Joe was emphatic that nothing whatever had been wrong with the lift on the preceding night. There was such a placard as Thomas had described—but it was tucked away under the desk and hadn't been used for over a year.

They all looked at each other and agreed it was a most mysterious thing. The doctor suggested some practical joke on the part of one of the hotel visitors, and perhaps they left it at that.

In reply to Mary's inquiries, Doctor Lazenby explained that Mr. Treves' chauffeur had given him the address of Mr. Treves' solicitors, and he was communicating with them and that he would come round and see Lady Tressilian and tell her what was going to be done about the funeral.

Then the busy cheerful doctor hurried off and Mary and Thomas walked slowly back to Gull's Point.

Mary said:

"You're quite sure you saw that notice, Thomas?"

"Both Latimer and I saw it."

"What an extraordinary thing!" said Mary.

SET UP THE SEQUENCE

THERE is a special danger in trying to set up the small spot cards of a four or five-card suit. If the defenders' cards in it are badly divided against the declarer, he may find that he sets up one or more cards for them instead of for himself. That danger does not exist, however, in establishing the lower cards of a solid sequence, which can be set up by merely driving out the higher cards. If anything gets established there, it is bound to be for the holder of the sequence.

Against South's big hand, West decided the burden of defense must rest with East, and so led his shortest suit of clubs, hoping it would be East's longest. When the 9 played, it looked to South as if West had led the top of the 7-6-2. If so, he could get game with four tricks in clubs, two in diamonds and three in hearts in case the finesse would work.

Planning to establish his club

thirteen first, he won the first trick with the club A, then laid down the K. Oh, what a rude shock when West discarded the heart 7, telling him how long East's clubs were. Changing plans now—but just too late, as it developed—he led the spade J. East false-carded with the A, then knocked out the club Q. The spade Q was then led, and East held up the K, blocking the dummy. Thoroughly licked now, South finessed the heart J to the Q, and West returned his last spade to the K. The club J and 10 then set the contract.

South had a sure thing, after winning the first club, if he had led a spade, won the second club lead, led spades again to knock out the other top honor and taken the third club lead. Flaying that way, he would have been sure of two tricks each in spades, hearts and diamonds, plus three in clubs.

COUNTY CAGE LEAGUE PLAY STARTS FRIDAY

Five Games Scheduled As Loop Is Revived After Wartime Lapse

Pickaway county high school basketball league will be revived Friday night after a lapse caused by the war.

Five games will be played Friday night as the season schedule opens. Jackson will play at Deercreek; Washington at Walnut; Ashville at New Holland; Salt Creek at Pickaway and Scioto at Darby.

Monroe and Scioto will have open dates as far as league play is concerned. Monroe has scheduled a game with Lancaster St. Mary's at the Monroe gym. Scioto won over Stoutsville Tuesday night.

Ashville was the top team in the county last season, although the league was not in operation. Ashville won the county tournament, district, sectional and regional play, but lost out in the first game of the state finals, finishing third in the state. Ashville will be watched again this season but all of the starting five players of last season are missing from the lineup. Ashville won over Canal Winchester last week.

Monroe is rated among the top teams again this year. Most of the players from the strong team of last season are back. Monroe has a victory over South Solon to date.

Williamsport, Scioto and Pickaway have shown strength in pre-season games and will be in there fighting for top spots in the league. New Holland, Walnut, Perry, Salt Creek, Darby, Jackson and Washington may cause plenty of trouble when league play gets under way.

The season's schedule with the home team listed first:

JOCKEY JESSOP INJURED IN CHICAGO TRACK SPILL

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—Jockey Job Dean Jessop, 19, Nibley, Utah, who holds the season's record for riding 268 winners since last May, was under observation at St. Anthony's hospital today after injuring his back in a bad fall at Sportsman's park.

Physicians said Jessop would not ride during the three remaining days of the meeting here, where he had piled up 54 victories.

Alfred Applebee, another jockey whose back also was hurt in the spill, was reported more seriously injured.

Applebee's mount, Winkle, was leading in the fourth race when she fell. Rich Sweep, the favorite, ridden by Jessop, was moving up to take the lead when he went down.

Reading about that speedy British jet plane, the Gloster Meteor, Grandpappy Jenkins says he thinks they misnamed the craft—no real motor ever went that fast.

Within two weeks of the opening of a recruiting drive for Army enlistments, 215 Fort Warren, Wyo., soldiers applied for entry into the regulars.

Folks who are better off in our town live on the west side of the railroad tracks. We've got a lake there, and the local park, and some real nice land.

There used to be a phrase "from the wrong side of the tracks." It meant what you think . . . but you don't hear it any more. Not since Charlie Jenkins came home with the Purple Heart, and Willie Wells got the Silver Star. There isn't any "wrong side" of the railroad tracks now!

And that change is going on all over America . . . where our

HUNTERS READY FOR OPENING

Rabbits And Pheasants To Be Targets After 11 A. M. Friday

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Gun barrels were being made to glisten just a little more. Sporting goods stores were pushed to meet the last minute demands for rifle and shotgun shells as Ohio hunting fans primed themselves today for open season on pheasants, rabbits, grouse, and Hungarian partridge.

The season begins at 11 a. m. Friday. After the first day, hunters may work the fields and woods at will between 7:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. The daily pheasant bag is two cock birds per man per day.

On rabbits, the limit is four per day; for grouse, a pair of birds per day; and on partridge, four per day.

Fur trapping and night-time raccoon hunting will begin on Friday also; in both the Lake Erie and the inland districts.

Night operations only are permitted of sportsmen seeking raccoon. The hours set down in the state game laws state that raccoon may be taken between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m., beginning on the evening of Nov. 16th.

Night hunters must carry a continuous white light that may be seen by other hunters from any point on the horizon.

Trappers also can go to work on the fur-bearing animals: muskrat, skunk, mink and raccoon. Authorities warn against setting traps before Friday.

Each trap set must have the owner's name and address stamped on the metal of the trap, or in a water-proof tag attached.

Total raccoon taken for either hunter or trapper, or party engaged in the tracking of the ring-tails must be no more than two. The length of the open season on the various game will be similar to last year. The two-week limit on pheasants, grouse and partridge ends Dec. 1. Rabbit season will continue until Jan. 12; while the raccoon season closes Jan. 19. In the Lake Erie district only trapping season for all game except raccoon, ends March 15.

How often you hear a man say of the land he owns . . . "When my son takes over, this will be a better place than when I got it!" Such a desire is natural to a father and splendidly American! Along with the expressed thought, there is a deep-rooted pride in continuous family ownership of productive land. So long as this ideal lives, agriculture will continue to be "the broad, enduring base upon which the entire U. S. economy rests."

There are many farm and ranch sons who stay in their families' business on the land. Some who do leave, however, might also stay, were there written business agreements between father and son. Such agreements insure a fair return to both "partners" for the labor, capital and ability they contribute to their joint enterprise.

Practical father-and-son farm business agreements have been worked out and are proving their worth in actual practice on many of the nation's farms and ranches. The various forms of these agreements cannot be explained in detail here, but they are available and worth study. Excellent bulletins on this subject may be had by writing to the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois, for Circular No. 587; or to Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan, for Special Bulletin No. 330.

We, at Swift & Company, know that a prosperous agriculture is the base of our prosperity and we are proud to say with you . . . "Our roots are in this land."

COUNTY CAGE LEAGUE PLAY STARTS FRIDAY

Five Games Scheduled As Loop Is Revived After Wartime Lapse

Pickaway county high school basketball league will be revived Friday night after a lapse caused by the war.

Five games will be played Friday night as the season schedule opens. Jackson will play at Deer Creek; Washington at Walnut; Ashville at New Holland; Salt Creek at Pickaway and Scioto at Darby.

Monroe and Scioto will have open dates as far as league play is concerned. Monroe has scheduled a game with Lancaster St. Mary's at the Monroe gym. Scioto won over Stoutsville Tuesday night.

Ashville was the top team in the county last season, although the league was not in operation. Ashville won the county tournament, district, sectional and regional play, but lost out in the first game of the state finals, finishing third in the state. Ashville will be watched again this season but all of the starting five players of last season are missing from the lineup. Ashville won over Canal Winchester last week.

Monroe is rated among the top teams again this year. Most of the players from the strong team of last season are back. Monroe has a victory over South Solon to date.

Williamsport, Scioto and Pickaway have shown strength in pre-season games and will be in there fighting for top spots in the league. New Holland, Walnut, Perry, Salt Creek, Darby, Jackson and Washington may cause plenty of trouble when league play gets under way.

The season's schedule with the home team listed first:

JOCKEY JESSOP INJURED IN CHICAGO TRACK SPILL

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—Jockey Job Dean Jessop, 19, Nibley, Utah, who holds the season's record for riding 268 winners since last May, was under observation at St. Anthony's hospital today after suffering his back in a bad fall at Sportsman's park.

Physicians said Jessop would not ride during the three remaining days of the meeting here, where he had piled up 54 victories.

Alfred Applebee, another jockey whose back also was hurt in the spill, was reported more seriously injured.

Applebee's mount, Winkle, was leading in the fourth race when she fell. Rich Sweep, the favorite, ridden by Jessop, was moving up to take the lead when he went down.

HUNTERS READY FOR OPENING

Rabbits And Pheasants To Be Targets After 11 A. M. Friday

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Gun barrels were being made to glisten just a little more. Sporting goods stores were pushed to meet the last minute demands for rifle and shotgun shells as Ohio hunting fans primed themselves today for open season on pheasants, rabbits, grouse, and Hungarian partridge.

The season begins at 11 a. m. Friday. After the first day, hunters may work the fields and woods at will between 7:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. The daily pheasant bag is two cock birds per man per day. On rabbits, the limit is four per day; for grouse, a pair of birds per day; and on partridge, four per day.

Fur trapping and night-time raccoon hunting will begin on Friday also; in both the Lake Erie and the inland districts.

Night operations only are permitted of sportsmen seeking raccoon. The hours set down in the state game laws state that raccoon may be taken between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m., beginning on the evening of Nov. 16th.

Night hunters must carry a continuous white light that may be seen by other hunters from any point on the horizon.

Trappers also can go to work on the fur-bearing animals: muskrat, skunk, mink and raccoon. Authorities warn against setting traps before Friday.

SPEEDWAY SOLD, CLASSIC RACE TO BE REVIVED

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 15—A new board of directors of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today announced plans for resuming the annual 500-mile Memorial Day classic, suspended during the war.

Anton Hulman, Jr., Terre Haute, Ind., sportsman and financier who purchased the two and one-half mile brick oval yesterday for $750,000, said the world famous auto race would be revived next May 30.

Immediately following sale of the property by Capt. Eddie Rick-enbacker, World War I hero and Eastern Airlines president, Wilbur Shaw was named president and general manager of the track on which he sped to fame and glory.

Shaw, three-time winner of the annual speedway classic, said he would resign immediately from the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, O., to assume his new duties.

The length of the open season on the various game will be similar to last year. The two-week limit on pheasants, grouse and partridge ends Dec. 1. Rabbit season will continue until Jan. 12; while the raccoon season closes Jan. 19. In the Lake Erie district only trapping season for all game except raccoon, ends March 15.

Each trap set must have the owner's name and address stamped on the metal of the trap, or in a water-proof tag attached.

Total raccoon taken for either hunter or trapper, or party engaged in the tracking of the ring-tailed cat must be no more than two.

CAVARRETTA IS MOST VALUABLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 — Phil Cavarretta of the champion Chicago Cubs never progressed in baseball, geographically speaking, but he made up today for being a "stay-at-home" by winning the most valuable player award in the National League for 1945.

Cavarretta, the still-youthful first baseman of the pennant-winning Bruins was the choice of a committee of the Baseball Writers of America, and he piled up a decisive total of 15 first place votes, seven seconds and one fifth, failing to score on only one ballot.

The grinning Italian, who became a prep school star with Lane technical high school on Chicago's north side and moved into a regular job as Cub first baseman in 1935 when he was 17 years old, hit his peak last Summer after a "decade of progress."

Winning the National League batting championship in a duel with Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves, who gained runner-up honors in the balloting. Cavarretta also was a standout in the fine Cub infield that made the club the top defensive unit in the circuit.

The 28-year-old slugger, who has played in three World Series with the Cubs and starred in all of them, had a season hitting mark of .355, edging out Holmes by three points. In addition he batted in 96 runs, made 33 doubles, 10 triples, six homers and a total of 177 hits for one of the most impressive marks in recent years. Inasmuch as the American League leader was far down, Cavarretta also gained the mythical major league batting crown.

Cavarretta's selection broke the St. Louis Cardinal monopoly on the award, much as the Cubs themselves stopped the Redbird reign as league leaders. In the three preceding seasons, Marty Marion in 1944, Walker Cooper in 1943 and Stan Musial in 1942 won the award as Cardinals.

Cavarretta received 279 points out of a possible 336. Holmes had 175 points and Charley (Red) Barrett, St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, acquired early in the season from the Boston Braves in a trade for Morton Cooper, was third with 151. Another Cub star, Outfielder Andy Pafko, was fourth with 131 points; George (Whitey) Kurowski, Cardinal third baseman, fifth with 90; Hank Borowy, Cub pitcher, who was waived out of the American League by the Yankees at mid-season, sixth with 84.

Our Roots Are in This Land...

HOW often you hear a man say of the land he owns... "When my son takes over, this will be a better place than when I got it!" Such a desire is natural to a father and splendidly American! Along with the expressed thought, there is a deep-rooted pride in continuous family ownership of productive land. So long as this ideal lives, agriculture will continue to be "the broad, enduring base upon which the entire U. S. economy rests."

There are many farm and ranch sons who stay in their families' business on the land. Some who do leave, however, might also stay, were there written business agreements between father and son. Such agreements insure a fair return to both "partners" for the labor, capital and ability they contribute to their joint enterprise.

Practical father-and-son farm business agreements have been worked out and are proving their worth in actual practice on many of the nation's farms and ranches. The various forms of these agreements cannot be explained in detail here, but they are available and worth study. Excellent bulletins on this subject may be had by writing to the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois, for Circular No. 587; or to Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan, for Special Bulletin No. 330.

We, at Swift & Company, know that a prosperous agriculture is the base of our prosperity and we are proud to say with you... "Our roots are in this land."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Only one side to our railroad tracks

Folks who are better off in our town live on the west side of the railroad tracks. We've got a lake there, and the local park, and some real nice land.

There used to be a phrase "from the wrong side of the tracks." It meant what you think... but you don't hear it any more. Not since Charlie Jenkins came home with the Purple Heart, and Willie Wells got the Silver Star. There isn't any "wrong side" of the railroad tracks now!

And that change is going on all over America... where our heroes have come from obscure homes... and greatness has overshadowed wealth and shallow social definitions.

From where I sit, it all comes down to tolerance... tolerance for what a man is and does... tolerance for his freedom and opinions, whether he's rich or poor, likes beer or cider, Shakespeare or the comic section. It's a great thing—tolerance!

PHENOTHIAZINE FOR FARM FLOCKS

By RICHARD C. MILLER

Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station

All sheep in farm flocks—ewes, rams and lambs—should be dosed late this fall or early winter with phenothiazine and again in the spring after lambing time. From at least May 1, through September, the one-to-nine phenothiazine-salt mixture should be accessible in a covered feeder that protects it from the weather.

In Kentucky tests during the past three years, involving 30,000 breeding ewes, this program (in connection with generally recognized good flock practices, such as pasture rotation), eliminated the dosing of any lambs in more than 90 percent of the flocks, and made possible the growing out of even the latest lambs to good market weights and finish. The average increase in weight per lamb was nearly 12 pounds above normal pre-war average. The average annual cost for phenothiazine was less than 30 cents per ewe.

Farmers and ranchers in doubt as to time and frequency of treatment best suited to their conditions and purposes should consult their state agricultural college.

Right Eating Adds Life to Your Years — and Years to Your Life

THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

The livestock-and-meat industry is like an endless chain. The meat travels in one direction; from livestock producer to meat packer, to retail dealer, to consumer. And coming back in the opposite direction is money; from the meat purchaser to the storekeeper, to the meat packer, to the man who grows the livestock.

There must be motive power to keep that chain running, and that motive power is profit. It is profit that keeps ranchers and farmers producing livestock; profit keeps meat packers slaughtering, dressing and delivering meat to retailers; profit keeps retailers selling meat in their stores.

We at Swift & Company well know that a continuing loss anywhere along the line would mean that all of us would suffer. Thus, it is clearly to our own advantage to operate our end of the livestock-and-meat industry so efficiently that the money the consumer pays for meat shall cover all costs plus a sufficient profit for retailers and livestock producers, as well as for ourselves.

WAR FUND DRIVE RECEIPTS WILL TOTAL $19,000

Allocations Made To County
Agencies; Distributions
Are Announced

Receipts from the 1945 war chest campaign will total $19,000, trustees of the Pickaway County Community War Chest announced Thursday.

The national war fund goal of $16,330 has been paid, allocations made to community agencies and the fund still has a balance of $6,172, it was announced.

At the last meeting of the trustees for the calendar year 1945 representatives of the various community organizations were present and allocations were made as follows:

The immediate needs for funds of Boy Scouts and Circleville Benevolent association had been met at an earlier meeting.

Because of the fact that they feel that the advertising policy of the National War Fund shows discrimination in favor of labor organizations, the trustees voted to table payment of a bill from that office for $48.80 for publicity material used in the local campaign.

Distribution of the 1944 and 1945 Pickaway county community war chests from the beginning of the 1944 campaign to the end of the 1945 campaign, October 23, 1944, to November 13, 1945, was as follows:

LONE SURVIVOR OF FASCIST '5' BECOMES MONK

MILAN—Twenty-six years ago five men met secretly in the dark cellars of Palazzo Belgioioso in Milan and founded the Fascist party.

With the exception of one, all of them are now dead.

The survivors of these five men, Count Cesare Maria de Vecchi, has now become a monk according to Italian press reports.

De Vecchi participated in the March on Rome in 1922, was for a number of years governor of the island of Rhodes in the Dodecanese, minister of national education and finally Italian ambassador to the Holy See. He has now taken the vows in a small Benedictine convent on the outskirts of Milan. What will happen to him once justice starts acting against war criminals in Italy still remains to be seen. It is believed that as long as De Vecchi remains under the umbrella of protection of the convent, his life is not in danger.

According to the Lateran treaty of 1929 between the Italian government and the Holy See, all Italian convents should enjoy extra territorial rights. If he should leave the convent, he will be arrested undoubtedly, despite his frock.

The other four men that founded the party that was to drag Italy to ruin were Benito Mussolini, who was machine-gunned to death by Italian Partisans last April; Michele Bianchi, who died of consumption in the early days of Fascism; Italo Balbo, swashbuckling minister of aviation, who was shot down by Italian anti-aircraft guns over Tobruk, and Gen. Emilio de Bono, who fell before the bullets of a Fascist firing squad at Verona in January, 1944, upon orders of Mussolini himself following the plot which overthrew Fascism in 1943.

INFLUENZA IN LIVESTOCK IS WINTER THREAT

COLUMBUS.—Influenza outbreaks are again taking a toll among many droves of swine, livestock health authorities reported here today.

"Farmers should see that hogs have warm, dry quarters, free from drafts and that they are not subject to undue exposure in cold or damp weather," says a flu bulletin issued today by the American Foundation for Animal Health. "If part of a drove comes down with flu, the sick animals should be separated from the well ones, because the disease is contagious. Brood sows should receive special care and nursing during an influenza outbreak, otherwise the disease may result in still births and other complications."

"In herds which have not been immunized against cholera, influenza is particularly hazardous, because the initial symptoms are often similar to cholera. Likewise, flu weakens a herd so the animals are more easy victims of cholera when the disease strikes."

Good housing, sanitation, good feeding and close observation of the drove are the best insurance against influenza outbreaks, the bulletin declares.

The Winter of 1886-87 was one of the worst in Wyoming history. More than 80 per cent of the range cattle were wiped out.

WAR FUND DRIVE RECEIPTS WILL TOTAL $19,000

Allocations Made To County
Agencies; Distributions
Are Announced

Receipts from the 1945 war chest campaign will total $19,000, trustees of the Pickaway County Community War Chest announced Thursday.

The national war fund goal of $16,350 has been paid, allocations made to community agencies and the fund still has a balance of $6,172, it was announced.

At the last meeting of the trustees for the calendar year 1945 representatives of the various community organizations were present and allocations were made as follows:

Hospital project for disabled soldiers, Mrs. James Moffitt chairman, $500; public health fund, for use in county, $1,000; public health fund, for use in city, $500; Girl Scouts, $1,000; Pickaway county Youth Canteen, to July 1, $600.

The immediate needs for funds of Boy Scouts and Circleville Benevolent association had been met at an earlier meeting.

Because of the fact that they feel that the advertising policy of the National War Fund shows discrimination in favor of labor organizations, the trustees voted to table payment of a bill from that office for $48.80 for publicity material used in the local campaign.

Distribution of the 1944 and 1945 Pickaway county community war chests from the beginning of the 1944 campaign to the end of the 1945 campaign, October 23, 1944, to November 13, 1945, was as follows:

Receipts: Balance on hand, beginning of 1944 campaign, $3,000; receipts from 1944 campaign, $26,436; receipts from 1945 campaign, including pledges, $19,000; total receipts, $48,436.

Expenditures: 1944 National War Fund, $16,350; 1945 National War Fund, $16,350; publicity material, N. W. P., $109; newspaper advertising, $260; printing, $90; postage, telephone, etc., $70; janitor, $45; stenographer, $240; secretary-treasurer, $200; public health fund, to January 1, 1947, $2,000; Pickaway County Youth Canteen, to July 1, 1946, $2,000; Boy Scouts, to July 1, 1946, $1,000; Girl Scouts, to January 1, 1947, $1,810; Ashville Community Club, for Scouts, $300; Circleville Benevolent Association, to March 1, 1946, $600; hospital project for soldiers, to January 1, 1947, $800; Darbyville Veterans' Project, $50; Pickaway county honor roll, $30; total expenditures, $42,264.

Balance on hand, November 13, 1945, $6,172.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

and war labor boards have seen forces which no one wants to play longer, except the Hillman-Murray combination which is the only one that got much out of it for itself. The idea of new labor boards, more honest, more judicial (creating a refuge where both sides can go to get justice instead of political or high pressure settlements) is one solution which seems obvious to me. The railway mediation board is a pattern, which has prevented general strikes in that industry for nearly 20 years. It was formed back then when just such a situation as now controls labor nationally was evident in that one industry. Railway management and labor got together and wrote a law, providing cooling off periods before strikes and just mediation.

This cannot be done, however, for every union in the country say those who are intimate experts with an objective inner view of the problem. They think such a board or boards would be smothered with cases from every drug store or laundry. The machinery, they assert, would be too cumbersome. The job of factfinding alone would be stupendous.

My own belief is that if you lay down a genuine set of principles—sufficiently genuine to get both sides honestly in favor of making them work—the government will have far fewer cases than you might guess from the existing conditions. I think such a solution would achieve stabilization of the current chaos rather swiftly. A solution like that would have the greatest power in the world behind it, the knowledge and cooperation of the people in establishing right.

Success or failure of the conference rests upon the degree to which this one single principle is achieved.

PW TWICE REPORTED DEAD

BASIN, Wyo. — Like the old Mark Twain saying, reports of the death of Harry Rosenberry were doubly exaggerated. Rosenberry son of Mrs. Myrtle Rosenberry, former Basin resident, first was reported killed in the Philippines. Memorial services were held for him in Basin. Next came another report that he had been killed in action. The latest report is that he has been liberated from a Japanese prison camp and is on his way home.

NEWS Behind the NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

and war labor boards have seen forces which no one wants to play longer, except the Hillman-Murray combination which is the only one that got much out of it for itself. The idea of new labor boards, more honest, more judicial (creating a refuge where both sides can go to get justice instead of political or high pressure settlements) is one solution which seems obvious to me. The railway mediation board is a pattern, which has prevented general strikes in that industry for nearly 20 years. It was formed back then when just such a situation as now controls labor nationally was evident in that one industry. Railway management and labor got together and wrote a law, providing cooling off periods before strikes and just mediation.

This cannot be done, however, for every union in the country say those who are innately experts with an objective inner view of the problem. They think such a board or boards would be smothered with cases from every drug store or laundry. The machinery, they assert, would be too cumbersome. The job of factfinding alone would be stupendous.

My own belief is that if you lay down a genuine set of principles—sufficiently genuine to get both sides honestly in favor of making them work—the government will have far fewer cases than you might guess from the existing conditions. I think such a solution would achieve stabilization of the current chaos rather swiftly. A solution like that would have the greatest power in the world behind it, the knowledge and cooperation of the people in establishing right.

Success or failure of the conference rests upon the degree to which this one single principle is achieved.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. SCOTT

man of the "This Is My Best," has a new credo--if you can't produce a sound effect by artificial means, use the real thing. Confronted with the perplexing sound of a man shaving, Esman delighted the studio audience by bringing out his razor and brush and actually giving himself a shave in front of the mike!

Did you know that Ginny Simms, star of her own Friday show, started out to be a teacher? When she enrolled in Fresno State College, it was with the idea of studying music and eventually teaching it.

program launching the Victory Loan campaign.

Harry Esman, sound-effects husband of "Big Sister!"
